PROTECTION FOR
HAWAIIAN COFFEESenator Paris Tells Why Congress Should Grant a Tariff.

Protection for coffee will be asked of Congress by the Legislature officially.
A resolution setting forth the needs for such action to rehabilitate the declining business was passed by the Senate during its brief session yesterday. The sponsor for the resolution was Senator J. D. Paris. In explanation of the move the Senator said last evening:

"I have been contemplating this move since the meeting of the Legislature. In fact, the resolution was drawn up during its first days, but I concluded that it was not the right time to press it then, and let it lie until now. I believe that I can get it through. Before annexation we had a duty of seven cents a pound on coffee and the growing of it was a great success. The grade of the coffee was as good as the Java.
Then, too, the large families of the native Hawaiians and the Portuguese often grew a considerable crop, thus adding to the family income and affording employment to every one in the household. This source of income has been cut off entirely. The coffee coming in from the cheap labor countries of Central America and the East had driven out the general growing of coffee and left the many persons who depended on it for a considerable portion of income without any substitute.

"In my opinion the placing of a duty on coffee by Congress would mean that there would be a revival of the industry.
This country must depend upon varied agriculture, and there is nothing which will afford as good returns, under the old conditions, as pleasant employment for the young members of a family and be as certain of crop. There is on each of the Islands much land which is unavailable for sugar but which would produce good crops of coffee. Of course I realize that there will be opposition to any such protection, but I believe that there will be many votes for the protection of anything grown in American soil."

The resolution of Senator Paris is as follows:

"Be it resolved by the Senate and the House of Representatives concurring of the Territory of Hawaii,

"That whereas the coffee industry, which at one time promised to be a leading industry, is now in a depressed condition, and threatened to be abandoned, on account of the low prices, and the removal of the protective duty of seven cents per pound on all coffee imported into the Republic of Hawaii before annexation; and the large amounts imported into the United States free of duty from Brazil, Mexico, Central America and other countries,

"That whereas this Territory possesses a large area of land suited to the cultivation of coffee, and a large amount of American capital is now invested in the industry, and upon which a large farming class have depended for a livelihood, but cannot compete with the low prices, where cheap labor is employed as in the countries above mentioned,

"We therefore pray, that the Congress of the United States, do impose a duty on all coffee imported from other countries, and in this way, protect this industry in Hawaii and other parts of the United States.

"Be it resolved, That the Governor of this Territory is hereby requested to transmit certified copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives with the request that this resolution be laid before the Congress of the United States.

"J. D. PARIS,
Senator First District, Territory of Hawaii.
Senate Chamber, Territory of Hawaii, July, 1901."

The Senator made a speech in which he pointed out the deplorable condition of the coffee industry and said that the only thing to build it up again was the duly mentioned protection.

Mr. Achil amended to have one copy sent to Delegate Wilcox.

The resolution thereupon passed.

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills in Honolulu.

Readers of the Honolulu papers are amilliar with it. At first it created considerable excitement. Week after week went by and the good people of Honolulu ceased to wonder and settled down to the fact that what so many of their neighbors said must be true. Any medicine that is endorsed like Doan's Backache Kidney Pills by our own citizens soon becomes a household remedy. Ask any citizen of Honolulu what will cure kidney trouble and the answer invariably is "Doan's Backache Kidney Pills."

Mr. Charles Comey, of Cyclomere street, this city, is one of the many persons who have tried Doan's Backache Kidney Pills with great advantage.
He relates his experience thus:
"I have been a hack driver for a number of years past and this is an occupation in which, through exposure to weather and much jumping up and down from the vehicle, one is particularly liable to kidney complaint. I suffered myself from a lame back for a long while, and in my anxiety to get rid of it tried several things which did not reach the root of my trouble. An advertisement acquainted me with what grand work Doan's Backache Kidney Pills were doing, and I got some of them at the Hollister Drug Co.'s store. I used them and with very much profit, for they relieved my back wonderfully."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers or sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

THE EARLIEST VOYAGERS TO THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

(Concluded.)

It appears from Capt. Colnett's statement that the Argonaut was released by the Spanish Viceroy at San Blas, and permitted to return to China, but was strictly forbidden to trade on the coast of America. Capt. Colnett touched at the Islands on his way, in April, 1791, and wrote to Young and Davis, offering them a passage to China on his vessel. Upon this they made a determined effort to escape to the Argonaut, but were prevented by a crowd of natives, and would have been killed, if it had not been for Kamehameha's personal exertions. Capt. Colnett left a ewe and ram at Kauai on this trip. The Princess Royal also visited the Islands from San Blas, as it seems, under Spanish colors, in March, 1791. As Vancouver states: "Ever since Tianna had been settled on Owyhee with the arms and ammunition he had brought from China, his mind had constantly been directed to the seizure of every small vessel that had arrived amongst them, whilst the plans he had repeatedly concocted for such enterprises had been uniformly opposed and overruled by Tamaamaah and his chief councillors."

On this occasion Kaiana with his brother and others chiefs, formed a plot for the capture of the Princess Royal, which was only prevented by the timely interference of Kamehameha. The argument was used that the Spaniards had taken the vessel from the English, and therefore there could be no harm in taking her from the Spaniards. She was released by the Spaniards on her return to Nootka Sound. The outrages committed by the Spaniards on the northwest coast nearly led to war between England and Spain, and "one of the noblest fleets that Great Britain ever saw," was fitted out in the year 1790, which was not without its effect on the court of Madrid. For in the Convention of October 28, 1790, the Spanish Government agreed to restore "the buildings and districts or parcels of land, at Nootka Sound and Port Cox, which were occupied by British subjects in April, 1789," and to acknowledge an equal right for English subjects with Spaniards to carry on all branches of commerce in those seas. One of the chief objects for which Capt. Vancouver's expedition was sent out was to receive a formal cession of this territory from a representative of the Spanish Government, as well as to make a complete survey of the northwest coast.

LATER VISITORS.

Capt. Kendrick of the Columbia after arriving at Macao, November 2, 1789, fitted out a brig called the Hope under Mr. Ingraham, who had been his mate, and made another voyage to the northwest coast. He was at the Islands again on his way to China in October, 1791, and left three of his men at Kauai under pay to collect sandalwood and pearls against his return from Boston the following year. This was the beginning of the sandalwood trade.

He afterwards made several trading voyages to the northwest coast in the Lady Washington, and met Vancouver at the Islands in 1794. He was accidentally killed on the 14th of December, 1794, in Honolulu harbor, by a wad from a cannon fired in a salute by the English ship Jackal, Capt. Brown.
Capt. Ingraham in 1791 took an intelligent young native from Hawaii, named Jack Kalehaha, to Boston and back, who afterwards made one voyage with Capt. Vancouver, and was highly spoken of by him.

The Jenny, Capt. Baker, of Bristol, England, touched at Niuhau in the summer of 1792 and kidnapped two young women, who were carried off to the Northwest Coast. Capt. Baker had enough humanity, however, to send them back to their native country by Capt. Vancouver, who was so much pleased by their good conduct on board that he procured lands for them at Waimea, and left them under the protection of Kaao. He met the Jenny again at the Islands in 1794, under Capt.
Adamson, formerly first officer of the Iphigenia. Capt. Brown of the London Company had three vessels under his charge, viz., the ship Butterworth, the sloop Prince Le Boo, and the schooner Jackal. He complained to Capt. Vancouver of the conduct of a set of renegade foreigners on Oahu and Kauai, who had formed a plot to cut off an American brig, the Hancock, Capt.
Crowell, at Kauai, by scuttling her under water, which well nigh succeeded.
Capt. Brown afterwards discovered Honolulu harbor, where he was massacred, together with Capt. Gardner and the greater part of the crews of the Jackal and Prince Le Boo, January 1, 1795, by Kalanikupule and the Oahu chiefs.

In regard to the character of these early traders, Capt. Vancouver says:
"The natives had too just cause to complain of the treatment they had received from their visitors. In many cases no compensation whatever had been given by these civilized visitors, after having been fully supplied, on promise of making an ample return, with the several refreshments of the best quality that the country afforded. At other times, they had imposed upon these people by paying them in commodities of no service or value. This was particularly the case in those articles which they were most eager to obtain, viz., arms and ammunition, which chiefly composed the merchandise of the Northwest American adventurers.
Muskets and pistols were thus exchanged that burst on being discharged the first time, though with a common charge of powder. To increase the quantity of gunpowder which was sold, it was mixed with an equal, if not a larger, proportion of pounded sea-coal or charcoal. Many serious accidents had happened by the bursting of these firearms." Too many of them seem to have acted on the Buccaneers' motto that there was "no God this side of Cape Horn."
